Holland-Zeeland Gasline Approval Seen in Lansing

Cheaper Gas Rates Expected When Line Opens Next Spring

Michigan public service commission approval is expected soon on extension of natural gas pipelines by the Michigan Gas and Electric company to Holland, Zeeland, Niles, Buchanan and Dowagiac.

Schuyler L. Marshall, commission member, said authorization to tap the Michigan-Wisconsin pipeline to serve the five cities probably will follow filing of financial details by the utility, the United Press reported from Lansing today.

Company officials testified before the commission that federal power commission approval already has been received for the extension of natural gas service.

The pipeline connections to the five communities are expected to cost Michigan Gas and Electric approximately $1 million. Barring delays in securing right-of-way and in construction, first deliveries of gas are expected to the five cities by next April or May. Company officials indicated several condemnation suits may be necessary to clear right-of-way for pipeline extensions, however.

Marshall said extension on natural gas service will provide added gas for space heating and probably will result in lower rates, especially in the Holland-Zeeland zone, which now is served only by costlier manufactured gas.

According to Michigan Gas and Electric company officials, the firm expects to expend $368,900 on improvements in gas handling facilities in the Niles-Buchanan-Dowagiac zone and $212,300 in the Holland-Zeeland zone. In addition, some $440,000 will be spent to construct 26 miles of pipeline necessary to make the connections.

The Niles line will connect with the Michigan-Wisconsin pipeline two miles south of Baroda and extend 16 miles to Niles with branches to Dowagiac and Buchanan. The line will consist of 8-inch pipe.

Officials said the Holland line will connect with the main pipeline two miles northeast of Hamlet, extending 10 miles to Holland with a branch to Zeeland. The line will consist of 6-inch pipe.

Two Hurt as Car Skids Into Train

Grand Haven, Dec. 7 (Special)—Two persons were injured when a car skidded into the caboose of a C and O freight train a mile north of Ferrysburg Tuesday noon.

The driver, Henry Van Oordt, 60, route 1, Spring Lake, is in serious condition in Butterworth hospital with a fractured pelvis and internal injuries. His companion and housekeeper, Mrs. Anna Dobbs, 56, is in Municipal hospital here with chest injuries, possible rib fractures and other injuries.

The Van Oordt car bounced back after hitting the train and landed with four wheels in the air and nose in the ditch, trapping the occupants. The steps of the caboose were smashed.

William Bergren of Muskegon, engineer of the train, estimated the train was traveling 30 miles an hour.

Fire Hydrant Pact Faces Clarification

Common Council confirmed Public Safety commission action in cancelling a contract between the city and Holland township regarding use of "fringe" area fire hydrants.

The present contract expires Jan. 5, 1950 and the city wants to iron out a few details before renewing the pact, Ald. Bertal Slagh, chairman of the Safety commission, said.

Writ of Capias Keeps Man in Jail Nine Months

Allegan, Dec. 8 (Special)—A long-time resident of the county jail was missing today.

Edward Louis Marshall, former South Haven used car dealer, was at liberty after spending almost nine months on a seldom used writ of capias ad respondendum, more commonly known as the Poor Debtors act.

Marshall was jailed last spring for a $5,500 judgment owed Tom Koster, Benton Harbor fruit grower, who won the judgment in circuit court. He invoked the writ when Marshall failed to pay and Marshall was put into jail March 17.

Marshall was held so long as Koster paid $120 daily board, on order of the court. When the advance weekly payment failed to

Stout Barricade Erected On Sharp Allegan Curve

Allegan, Dec. 8 (Special)—Residents at the foot of Garden street—a branch of Stanley hill—have one worry off their minds.

City street workers this week erected a stout barricade, intended to halt the gradual chopping down of trees by careening motorists who underestimate the sharp curve into Trowbridge St.

People of the neighborhood had complained their children weren't safe in the area, since too frequently a car plunges over the curb at that point.

The city will receive payment for the work from the state highway department, which had authorized the project.

Ceremony Marks Flag Presentation To City Council

With appropriate ceremony, the Woman's Relief corps presented an American flag to Common council Wednesday night.

The presentation, which took place on the eighth anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor, was witnessed by about 25 members of the corps, many of them wearing white for the occasion.

Mrs. Hans Von Ins, patriotic instructor, reviewed the history of the flag, its symbolism and the treasured spot it holds in the hearts of the American people. She was flanked by four color bearers carrying smaller flags. They were Mrs. Bertha Driy, Mrs. Clara Decker, Mrs. Blanche Harbin and Mrs. Dick Smallegange. Mrs. Margaret Bocks, chaplain, read a prayer.

Presentation of flags to schools and cities is one of the leading functions of the Woman's Relief corps, described as one of the large women's patriotic organizations in the country. It is one of the last organizations of the Grand Old Army of the Republic, stemming from the Civil War.

The ritualistic presentation concluded with the furling of the flags and a prayer for peace.

The flag was accepted by Mayor Harry Harrington.

An arrangement of tropical fruit and flowers raised by Park Supt. Dick Smallegange in the city green houses appeared on the mayor's stand. It contained oranges and lemons and their foliage, orange blossoms, a bird of paradise bloom, hibiscus, papayas and peppers.

The ceremony concluded with the flag salute and singing "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," with musical accompaniment provided by John Swieringa on the accordion.

Zone Amendment Proposal Argued, Tabled by Council

Gas Storage Measure Brings Action on Floor at Meeting

An ordinance to re-zone a section along Lake Macatawa, south of the James De Young power plant, to allow erection of petroleum storage tanks, teetered on the brink of defeat and then was rescued to await third and final reading.

Action on the matter, introduced at the Nov. 17 meeting, came at the regular Common council meeting Wednesday night.

Aurora Gasoline Corp. of Detroit is making a bid to establish a terminal on the property. However, the area must be re-zoned if the Aurora application is to gain approval.

At the last meeting, an ordinance to create a new zoning district to be known as "E" storage and distribution, was read by title only. It was read by title only for the second time at Wednesday's meeting.

Before the second reading, two letters against the proposed petroleum storage on that property were read.

Ald. Bertal Slagh moved to kill the proposed zoning ordinance amendment. He cited the two letters against the measure.

Peter S. Boter, attorney for Aurora Corp., challenged the action on ground that council procedure always has been to wait at least two weeks between readings of ordinances or ordinance amendments.

City Attorney Orien S. Cross said it would not be against the rules to kill the measure at this time. He said the amendment had been read twice by title and council was in committee of the whole at the time the matter came to the floor.

Boter asked why council was deviating from its usual procedure on this particular matter. Cross cited the two letters against the re-zoning.

Boter countered by saying any person who was interested in the matter would not have a chance to get in on final discussion that accompanies a third reading.

"I have never seen any deviation from the custom and I think any deviation from this is unfair to interested persons," Boter said.

Ald. Robert Notter said action was taken at the Nov. 17 meeting and both sides were heard. He said by killing the measure at this time, the Aurora Corp. would have a chance to seek another site without delay.

Boter charged that Notter implied council had premeditated defeating the proposal and said this procedure, without public hearing, was contrary to state law.

Cross said Notter was making expressions, but denied any premeditation.

Ald. Slagh said, "In fairness to all, I withdraw my motion and suggest we wait for the matter to come up for third reading and final action in two weeks."

His withdrawal was approved. Letters against the proposal were from William C. De Roo and the Board of Appeals.

Both cited that the area could be used for a better industrial purpose than gasoline storage. Both were against "more heavy gasoline trucks" on the streets of Holland.

The contemplated employment of "just eight men" as proposed by the Aurora Co. does not represent the maximum value of the area, according to both letters.

They cited other objections along similar lines.

March of Dimes Chairman Picks Kiwanian Aides

Holland Kiwanians have named Gabe Kuite to serve as chairman of the 1950 March of Dimes campaign. The service organization is sponsoring the local fund-raising drive for the sixth successive year.

Kuite and his committee chairman met with Vern Dagen of Grand Haven to discuss the drive, which raises funds for operation of the Ottawa county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The chapter has underwritten the costs of caring for 50 confirmed cases of polio in Ottawa county this year.

"Our task has been made easier in Holland by industrial endorsement of the Single Solicitation plan," Dagen said. "But we must attempt to reach more people this year, because the incidence of polio in Ottawa county has increased by 500 per cent."

The national treasury has granted Ottawa county more than double the entire sum collected in last year's March of Dimes, Dagen reported.

Wilbur Cobb, retiring general chairman, will assist in planning the 1950 campaign.

"The Kiwanian club is almost too small to conduct a drive as important and extensive as this one, but we are united in our determination to support the fight against polio and we'll make up in energy what we lack in numbers," Cobb said in turning over records of past drives to Kuite.

Other committee chairman include: Jack Plewes, theaters; Clare Walker, schools; George Schreier, individuals; Dan Vander Werf, organizations; Rhine Vander Meulen, churches; Wilbur Cobb, industry; Bill Draper, merchants; George Jacobs, boxes; Bert Gebben, rural; Jack Grammeyer, special events; John Van Dam, clubs; Fred Ver Schure, wishing well.

Holland Jaycees Back Hoover Plan

Holland Jaycees have pledged support to Operation Economy, a national Junior Chamber of Commerce project to support the Hoover commission plan for reorganization of the federal government.

A delegation of Holland Jaycees attended a district meeting Wednesday night at the Ottewillan country club, where the project was explained by Bill Brownfield, national vice president.

Conducting the meeting was Maury Roberts of Allegan, state vice president. The Plainwell club was host.

Attending from Holland were Ed Heuvelhorst, Ernie Phillips, Irv De Weerd, Bob Bennett, Jim White, Jim Bagladi, John Benson, Bill Norlin, Willis Welling and Seymour Padnos.

The local organization will sponsor projects seeking to inform Holland citizens of the purpose and advantages of the Hoover plan. Sponsors say the plan would save the government billions in operating expenses.

Plan Commission Ordinance Passed By City Fathers

Make Up of New Group Governed by State; Effective in 20 Days

Common Council passed an ordinance to create a planning commission in Holland at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

The new ordinance was okayed after third and final reading, and approval by committee of the whole.

Makeup of a planning commission is governed by state law. It will include the mayor, one of the administrative officials of the city selected by the mayor; one member of council to be selected by council, and six persons appointed by the mayor and approved by council.

The new ordinance takes effect in 20 days.

An ordinance to change the tax day and meeting dates of the Board of Review, was read for the first and second times by title only at Wednesday's meeting.

The hurry up action was explained because state law has been changed and goes into effect Jan. 1, 1950. The city wants to change its tax day and Board of Review meeting dates before Jan. 1 to comply with the new state law.

An ordinance to regulate taxi cabs was read for the second time, by title only.

Clerk Clarence Greengood told council that the city's contract with City Sign Co. for maintenance for the wooden shoe signs at entrances to the city has expired.

The matter was referred to the Ways and Means committee with power to act. The former agreement called for $20 a month to maintain the four signs.

Mayor Harry Harrington presided at Wednesday's meeting and Ald. John Beltman gave the invocation.

Community Fetes Undeclared Chix At Banquet Meet

Zeeland, Dec. 2 (Special)—Some 250 citizens of Zeeland honored the first undeclared football team in the high school's history at a community banquet Thursday night in the city hall auditorium.

Al Wistert, captain of the 1949 University of Michigan team and All-American choice on most teams for the last two years, was speaker and showed movies of the Michigan-Stanford game.

The 1949 Zeeland team went through eight games without a defeat. This is the best record in the school's history. The previous best mark was in 1929 when Zeeland won six and tied one.

Nelson Van Kovering, representing the community, presented small gold footballs to each team member. The footballs had a small brown colored "Z" on the side and the word champions, 1949, on another side.

In the general gift exchange the team presented Coach Joe Newell with a watch and gave assistant Coach Melvin Bouma a pen and pencil set. Paul Van Kovering made the presentations on behalf of the team. Both coaches also received colorful wool blankets from the community.

Wistert started his talk with a note of praise for Lloyd "Dutch" Heneveld of Holland, his teammate. He said it was easy to see why Zeeland could have a perfect season if all the Dutchmen were like Heneveld.

"Moose" Wistert warned the prep graders against big-headedness and second-guessing the quarterbacks. He told the team that taking a loss in stride is as important as any other phase of the game of football.

The huge Wolverine captain related a few anecdotes of the recently completed season. He told of the defection in the Michigan locker room following the 7-7 tie with Ohio State in the season finale. He said the Wolves really wanted to win that one and the undisputed title that would go to the victor.

He related a few humorous anecdotes about the Michigan coaches and the team.

Wistert told his audience he was sorry that other team members were unable to accompany him to Zeeland.

He concluded the program by showing the game pictures.

Ken De Jonge was toastmaster at the fete and introduced Newell, who in turn remarked on the team and the undefeated season.

Superintendent of school Melvin B. Lubbers spoke briefly and opened the banquet with a prayer.

Ottawa Lists 83 New TB Cases For Year 1948

The tuberculosis picture for Ottawa county is revealed in the new 1949 supplement to the publication "Tuberculosis in Michigan," just released by the Michigan Tuberculosis association.

Last year, Ottawa county had 83 new cases of TB as compared with 26 new cases for the year previous, the Christmas seal agency reported. Six Ottawa county citizens died of the disease as contrasted with seven deaths for the year before. The death rate for 1948 stands at 8.1 per 100,000 population. The death rate for 1947 was 10.09. With new cases showing a marked increase, the tuberculosis problem in Ottawa county is still a serious one.

Allegan county had 17 new cases last year and four deaths. Kent county had 119 new cases and 49 deaths. Muskegon county had 96 new cases and 25 deaths.

The cost to Ottawa county for hospitalization of each case of tuberculosis is about $3.50 a day. To this the state adds $3.50 a day. As of June, 1949, Ottawa county had 18 hospitalizations. Three of these were paid for by the state at large. The cost to the county for the remaining hospitalizations was about $52.50 a day. The total cost for hospitalization to both county and state was approximately $63 a day. The yearly cost to Ottawa county for one hospitalization for tuberculosis is about $1,277.50.

Christmas Seal funds, working in this community and throughout the state, are part of steady advance against tuberculosis. Remembering that hospitalization for minimal TB is from nine months to a year as contrasted to a period of from three to ten years or more, it is particularly significant that 50 per cent of hospital admissions are far advanced, 37 per cent moderately advanced, and only 13 per cent in the minimal stages when the disease is less difficult and less costly to cure.

Postal Receipts Shatter Record

Receipts at the Holland post office for the first 11 months of this year are 26 per cent, or $66,401.06, more than the January through November receipts of last year.

Postmaster Harry Kramer reports an income of $319,853.78 compared with $253,452.72 for the first 11 months of last year.

During last month, the local post office took in $29,115.50, or 13 per cent more than the $26,100.62 during the same month of 1948. The difference is $3,014.88.

Kramer reports receipts of $53,633.43 from Oct. 1 through Nov. 30. This is $12,338.01, or 24 per cent more than the $51,295.42 intake for the same period one year ago.

Christmas mailings are expected to shatter the all time record, Kramer predicts.

'Heneveld Day' Plans Readied

"Lloyd Heneveld Day" will be observed in Holland Dec. 20.

The University of Michigan alumni club of Holland and local service clubs are sponsoring a banquet on that date to honor Heneveld.

He has played guard on University of Michigan football teams for the last three years and capped his senior year this fall by winning all-American mention and was named on all-Big 10 teams.

Negotiations are underway, under the direction of Peter Van Domelein, Jr., to get Athletic Director Fritz Crisler or football Coach Bennie Oosterbaan to Holland for the fete.

The banquet will be held in the Temple building and 350 tickets will be put on sale to the public at the Chamber of Commerce office, Superior and Bob's sports stores.

A committee of University of Michigan club members in charge of decorations and Ed Heuvelhorst, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce is in charge of the committee arranging the meal.

A meeting was held Tuesday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce office to draft plans after Heneveld told members when he would be able to attend.

GR Ottawa Hills Nips Dutch Five 59-56 in Overtime

Holland Comes Back In Third Quarter To Tie Game Score

If Friday night's opener is any indication, Holland high school basketball fans are in for some severe cases of frazzled nerves this season.

Ottawa Hills nipped the locals in an overtime battle 59-56. The game was played in the narrow "cracker-box" Indian gym in Grand Rapids. It was the season inaugural for both schools.

The score was deadlocked at 50-all at the end of the regulation game. In the hectic three-minute overtime, the two teams scored 15 points between them. Here's a brief run down on scoring in the game extension:

Don Eaddy took the tipoff and turned, shot and made a basket to send Ottawa ahead 52-50. Tim Beerthus shoved in a long one-hand push shot to tie the count. Big Roger Nicely put the home team ahead 54-52 with a pivot shot and Bob Tasma was put out the game because of five personal fouls. There also was a technical foul on the play.

Nicely made one of the points and Eaddy missed the technical. Ottawa was ahead 55-52. Beerthus fouled Bob Meeth, who made one of two shots. The score read 56-52.

Ken Schippers made a followup to make the score 56-54. Eaddy set up a shot that Nicely made to give the Indians a four-point 58-54 margin. Bob Armstrong tipped in a shot from under the bucket. Schippers fouled Bob Friberg, who made the shot.

The game ended with the Ottawa gym in an uproar as fans from both schools yelled themselves hoarse, trying to yell out the victory.

Ottawa's fast break witted the Dutch in the opening stanza. Holland leaned on some good foul shooting to stay in the game. The Indians used their two towering giants to control the ball most of the first half. They were six-foot six Roger Nicely and six-foot three Bob Hendricksen.

The Grand Rapids team led 13-6 at the end of the first quarter and 28-18 at halftime.

After the Dutch had spotted the Indians 15 points early in the third quarter, and the scoreboard read 35-20, Holland started to roll.

The Mackaymen launched an aggressive attack that whittled the lead down to six points at the end of third quarter. Score was 40-34.

At the automatic timeout, Ottawa was ahead 45-44. With one minute and five seconds left in the game, Willard Kramer fouled Nicely and the rangy Indian pivot man stepped to the foul line and sank the shot to tie the score and send the game into the overtime.

Tim Beerthus was the big gun in the last attack as he boomed in 21 points on nine field goals and three free throws. Dale Van Dorpe was next with 12. The Dutch made 12 out of 17 free throws in the game.

Ottawa's scoring was divided. Eaddy and Hendricksen each had 16 and Nicely tipped in 14. The home team made 15 out of 33 foul shots.

Holland Seconds Breeze to Win

Coach Fred Weiss used his entire 13-man Holland high school team squad to keep the score down against the Ottawa Hills seconds Friday night as the local team won 47-41.

Holland used a fast break that simply dazzled the Indians. The Dutch reserves led 13-6 at the end of the first quarter and went out front 25-13 at the third-quarter mark.

Weiss let the Indians outscore his team 20-13 in the final quarter as he again used all the reserves.

Tom Maentz and Frank Van Dyke split scoring honors with each getting 10 points. Tassell was high for the Indians with nine.

Speeders Fined
Robert L. Houting, 23, of 136 East 34th St., paid a $10 speeding fine in municipal court Saturday morning and Bernard Laaman, 20, of 340 East Sixth St., paid $7 for a similar offense. Clarence Kuhlman, of route 6, paid a $1 parking fine.

Ready to send out his summons in the $50,000 libel suit he started Saturday is Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (center) who said his son, Leo, left, and Dwight Cheever, a member of the Hoffman law firm, in Allegan, would represent him in court. Hoffman's 10-page declaration was to reach nine defendants during the week-end.

Hoffman Explains Why He Delayed Case a Year

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman said here he had delayed his $50,000 libel suit a year because one of the defendants, Rep. John Lesinski of Detroit, could not be served a summons while Congress was in session.

The Allegan representative filed papers in Allegan circuit court Saturday, naming the following jointly liable in his claims of libel: Booth Newspapers, Inc., doing business as the Kalamazoo Gazette; Local 3619 of United Steel Workers of America; Stanley S. Glace, president-treasurer of the local in Kalamazoo; Eugene M. Betz, recording secretary; Thomas Shane, Glen E. Sigan and Clarence Jackson, Detroit, regional director, international and field representatives respectively of the union; Lesinski, and James Green, an Allegan news dealer.

The case concerns a rally held in Kalamazoo Dec. 13, 1948, by the union of Shakespeare Co. employees shortly after Hoffman's investigation into the long strike and final riot. Rep. Lesinski was a principal speaker, and an account of his remarks appeared in the Gazette.

Hoffman charges the union with planning the rally for the purpose "to smear, slander, libel and injure the plaintiff" and that they "knew anything" said would be carried in the Gazette. He said several hundred people attended the meeting the intent of which was to injure Hoffman's reputation as a lawyer, as a patriotic citizen, and as a member of Congress.

He declares he asked each defendant to retract the remarks between Dec. 28 and Feb. 9, 1949, but none did so.

In setting forth his case, he declares he "not only was suspicious and criticized by people formerly his friends and supporters, but that he was humiliated before his family by the newspaper account."

He avers spending "great sums going about the fourth district to rectify the wrong," and further that his feelings were "damaged because all his life he had been a patriotic American citizen, devoted to preserve the principles of constitutional government."

Newsdealer Green was the first to receive his summons, after which the case was officially in court. He is charged with having sold and distributed the Dec. 14 issue of the paper which contained the remarks on which Hoffman bases his suit.

Allegan Voters To Decide Fate Of School Plant

Allegan, Dec. 8 (Special) - About 3,200 Allegan voters are eligible to cast ballots Tuesday in the second attempt to raise money for a new elementary school to alleviate crowded conditions in the grades.

Electorators will vote "yes" or "no" on a $490,000 bond, which with the $100,000 already in the building and site fund, would purchase the site, build and equip a centrally located school.

Additional cost to the average home-owner will about equal the price of his daily newspaper, the Citizens' committee explained. Approval of the bond issue would increase school taxes $7 per thousand of assessed valuation, a plan that was recently voted in in Plainfield, the committee said.

If assessed valuations should be raised, the committee said, it would not increase the amount of school taxes for the building program. The district may only raise enough money to pay the bonds, a fixed amount, and may not create a surplus.

Holland Christian Dumps St. A Five For Victory No. 2

Maroons Control Boards Against Defending State Class C Champs

Holland Christian cagers chalked up their second victory within a week, Friday, on the Armory floor when they whipped Kalamazoo St. Augustine, defending state class C champions, 37-23. Christian's season record now stands at two victories against a single defeat.

The contest was far from well played, but both clubs showed streaks of brilliance throughout. Neither aggregation was able to find the hoop consistently. Amazingly enough, most of the points which were scored came from out-court. Coach Arthur Tuls' lads again used the fast break and gave indications of finesse in that department. Coach Harve Freeman's Irish used the familiar rotary "pass and cut" offense effectively.

Laud Irish Mentor

Between halves of the game, Athletic Director Raymond Holwerda of Holland Christian, presented Harve Freeman, St. A coach, a pair of engraved wooden shoes. The shoes were symbolic of the 40 contests between the two schools over a 20-year span. Holwerda also paid tribute to Freeman, who began his 28th year of coaching at the Kalamazoo school this season.

ly, although they missed several shots at crucial moments.

For the first time this year, the Maroons did not have to spot a height advantage to their opponent. The Dutchmen were slightly taller and had complete control of the backboards throughout most of the tilt.

Missing from the St. A. lineup was Gil Eady, speedy guard who is to undergo a knee operation today. Otherwise the Kalamazoo lineup included three of the boys who played against Christian last season.

Christian never trailed in the contest. Paced by the sharpshooting Ralph Bouwman, the locals moved to a quick lead which they increased to 11-6 at the end of the first quarter.

The Dutchmen stretched their margin to 13-6 early in the second period before the St. A. offense began to click. Within a few minutes, the invaders had whittled the lead to 13-11. Another two pointer by Bouwman stretched the Dutch margin, although by halftime the fighting Irish trailed by only a 15-14 count.

A tighter Dutch defense in the third period began to pay dividends, and they boosted their total to 23. Meanwhile they were holding the losers to a basket and a pair of charity tosses. Eddie Altena was the sparkplug of the third quarter flurry.

Flashing a speedy attack in the final period, the Hollanders pulled away steadily and "iced" the victory with little difficulty. Henry Holstege, Maroon forward, garnered six points during the clinching rally.

Holstege was the leading scorer for the Hollanders with 11 tallies. He was followed closely by Bouwman with 10. Jim Holton paced the losers with 11 markers. The Tulsians completed only seven out of 20 free throws, and the Irish hit on seven out of 12.

Hundreds Jam Downtown To Welcome Santa Claus

Letters-to-Santa Contest Announced Again This Year

Allegan, Dec. 8 (Special) - The popular Letters-to-Santa contest will be held again this year in Holland, local merchants decided at a coffee kietz meeting Monday.

Youngsters 12 and under may start writing their letters immediately but winners will not be announced until Christmas week. The contest will be carried on along the same lines as the last two years. Santa will select a girl and boy winner each day, and more winners if his pack of gifts allows.

Rules of the contest are simple. Letters must be in the child's own handwriting except in cases where the child is too young to write and has an urge to have mommy write to Santa Claus. Letters should not exceed 150 words, but Santa prefers them short and says he'd rather have them half that long. Winners will be announced each day over the public address system.

Two Police Cars, Fire Truck Precede Truck Carrying Jovial Gent

Hundreds of kids and quite a few grown ups crammed downtown Holland Saturday afternoon to catch a glimpse of Santa Claus. Many of the small fry crowded their way to the booth in front of the Chamber of Commerce later in the afternoon to tell Santa their gift list.

The jovial, whiskered gent rode into town on a high throne mounted on the rear of a flatbed semi. He was surrounded with Christmas trimmings and his 10-green-clad elves.

Two police cars and a bright red fire truck preceded the semi along the parade route with sirens shrieking. A sound car appropriately playing "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town," was immediately in front of the semi.

The procession started at the corner of Eighth St. and College Ave. It went down Eighth to River Ave. and down River, wound around the city hall and retraced its way back to the Warm Friend Tavern.

There Santa and his helpers threw one bushel of apples and 100 pop corn balls to the mass of kids that surrounded the stopped truck.

After presenting each of his elves with a gift, he rode away and took up his station in the booth a few minutes later. By the time he reached the booth, a line had formed almost back to Central Ave.

At the booth he handed out another bushel of apples and more pop corn balls along with eight boxes of stick candy.

He'll be at the booth each afternoon, starting today, from 4 to 5:15 p.m.

His helpers Saturday were Kent Rowder, Kent and Spencer Bocks, Gerry Van Gelderen, Bob and Calvin Rose, Neil Pauwe, Carl Dams, Roger Kobas and Jack Damson.

Lampreys Found In Lake Macatawa Carp by Seiners

Holland Game Club Officials Say First Instance in Area

Fish destroying sea lampreys were found this week in the Pine Creek bay area of Lake Macatawa.

Spring Lake contractors, who are seining the area for carp, found three of the vicious parasites in their haul Monday. Another was found Tuesday in the same area but got away before the carp were landed.

One of the lampreys caught Monday has been given to the Hope college science department for study to determine whether it is diseased.

A few of the carp bore marks of lamprey attacks, according to Cornelius Klaasen, supervisor of the seining operation for the Holland Fish and Game club. This is the first time the Game club has found lampreys on carp, Klaasen said.

Ed Borchers of Spring Lake is under contract to the local game club to sein for carp. The project, an annual affair, was started three weeks ago in Port Sheldon lake.

More than 1,800 pounds were caught the initial day.

Borchers moved his operation to Lake Macatawa Monday and started at Pine Creek bay. The net result was three tons of carp. The haul would have weighed more, Klaasen said, but the "pocket holed up" and many got away.

The group hauled in 20 tons of carp Tuesday from the same area. Thursday the haul weighed 12 tons.

All the catches are transported via truck to game club ponds on M-21, east of Holland, to await shipment to market.

The pond is fed by water and the fish can be left there for an indefinite time.

A load already has been sold to a Detroit market by the Game club.

The local Game club is in charge of seining in the southern half of Ottawa county and will continue until the lakes freeze over. Wind also forces them to quit. They sein each spring and fall.

THE END OF MORRIS
FISHBEIN

The announcement that Dr.
Morris Fishbein is leaving the editorship of the Journal of the American Medical Association was in no sense a surprise. When this famous veteran editor was "muzzled" last June by the rank and file of the membership of the powerful association of doctors, it became virtually certain that he would take an early opportunity to make the tentative divorce final. That time appears now to have come.

The Fishbein career in medical journalism has been a notable one. For 37 years he was to all intents and purposes, at least so far as the general public was concerned, the official voice of American medicine. From time to time individual doctors or local medical associations dissented from his pronouncements and policies, but in the main he was the spokesman for the national association. The lay public had learned to take for granted that when he spoke it was really the American Medical Association that was speaking.

When therefore he was told last June at the Atlantic City meeting to stop making speeches on controversial subjects, and to hold no more interviews, the order came as somewhat of a surprise to the public. What appears to have happened is that American medicine learned to understand that it was up against the fight of its life against what is sometimes called "socialized medicine," and that it must show a united front. There are factions and parties within the AMA, as there are in all national organizations, and Editor Fishbein could not be the voice of them all.

On Fishbein's part, what probably happened in the course of the years was that he came to think of himself as the American Medical Association. At least that is the normal pattern in such things. An official learns to think of himself as one who is not a creature of the organization that made him but its head and master.
In a democratic institution the time almost always comes when such an attitude must be repudiated, no matter how valuable the employee may be.

That Fishbein has been a valuable and an important force in American medicine is certain. But the American Medical Association is bigger than Fishbein or any other individual. His departure from its key public relations position is evidence that the association remains a democratic institution. The association loses a valuable man, but perhaps a man who had outlived his value.

Jeremiah 8:4-7; 26: 31

By Henry Geerlings

We are now asked to think in terms of individual religion. That is an important subject and must be of vast concern to all of us. If I am not interested in my own life, in whose life can I be interested? I must pause to think of myself, of who and what I am, of my place in the plan of God, of my relationship to others, and of the good I may render society.

The loss of the sense of my personal value renders me unfit to serve anybody or anything. God has crowned each of us with dignity and honor, and Christ for each one of us, and here is a significant work for each to do, and how can we think meanly of ourselves. True, we are not to think of ourselves more highly than we ought to think, neither are we to think of ourselves as worms of the dust, and inconsequential creatures, lost in the larger mass. I am I, and you are you. We are persons.

God does not think of us in the mass, nor does He deal with us in the mass. His personal providence does not extend alone to the well-to-do, the noble and the great of the earth. It reaches down to us in our humble station. It finds us in our modest home. As individuals we are the objects of His love and care. If He notices the sparrow that falls to the ground and numbers the very hairs of our heads, shall it be thought a thing incredible that He sets store by every one of us?

How easy it would be to get along if we did not need to have any personal responsibility. If we could always shift the blame for the wrongs we do to somebody else, if we could always depend on sharing in the good others do and not be required to do any ourselves, maybe we would have an easier time. But things do not work out that way for us. We must get our own education. What another learns will not make us learned. We must exercise our own faith in God. What another believes will not make us religious.
We must do our own workship.
God. Another's worship will not satisfy our needs.

The authority of Jeremiah was his call from God. Though he belonged to the priestly family and doubtless planned to be a priest,
God had a different work for him.
Before his birth, God had decided that he was to be one of His best prophets. So when he grew to manhood he was given the call to the office of prophet.

This call informed him that God had selected him and set him apart to be a prophet to the nations. But Jeremiah was humble and afraid. He felt he was like a child before the hard task of being a prophet. He knew that a prophet must make public addresses and he was afraid he could not do this.

Then God assured him that he should not hesitate for he would have God's word to speak. He was not to be fearful as he met people with angry faces. God would be with him to defend him against all the people might do against him. God touched his mouth as a sign that He would speak through his lips. God told him that he was exalted to a place of authority and that his work was to destroy the things that were wrong and to build up what was right. He was to pull out the useless weeds and plant good herbs and fruit-bearing trees in their place.

Jeremiah's prophecies were many. One thing he did was to condemn what was wrong and to expose false teachers. These wrong teachers would be destroyed some day. There would be a long period of exile and suffering. This would be the punishment of the people in consequence of their sins. But a better day would follow because God would bring it to pass. For a time there would be a series of bitter suffering which were described as plucking up breaking down, destroying and afflicting. All these would be allowed by God. Then would come a change, also brought to them by God.

It is well to remember that the days of Jeremiah were serious and wicked days in Judah. The young king Josiah, in whose reign Jeremiah began to prophesy, found them so. With a rare courage and unflinching determination the youthful king set out to clean up his country morally and religiously. While he accomplished all that he desired, Evil is hard to destroy. Evil men are difficult to put to flight. Old customs and old ways and delightful sins to which men and women have become accustomed do not yield their place and power at the first sound of battle.

Evil knows how to fight as does righteousness. Evil is persistent and bold and tenacious. It was true in Jeremiah's day and it is true in our day. We have done much. We have gained much ground and we have encouraged much to go on fighting for the triumph of righteousness.

A new teaching was heard and accepted in the prophet's day. It was a teaching of long standing that the whole family was held responsible for the wrongs done by any member of the family. If a father sinned his sons were counted as equally guilty with him and were punished with him.
They had a proverbial way of putting it. "The fathers have eaten sour grapes and the children's teeth are set on edge." This meant that if the father committed a crime his son might die for it. The new teaching would change all that. It would say that whoever this country at the age of 19 from Wales, where he spent many years at labor in a coal mine.

"Here I found freedom, liberty and opportunity," he told his listeners, "and that gives me hope and inspiration for the future."

The speaker's account of his first contacts with American lives and customs was amusing. Although diminutive in stature, Rev. Richards delivered his message of gratitude and patriotism with vigor.

Vocal solos were presented by Mrs. Henry Voogd. Accompanied

by Mrs. W. C. Snow, she sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem" by Scott, "The Birthday of a King" Neiblinger, and as an encore,
"Open My Eyes to Beauty."

Mrs. George A. Pelgrim, president, presided and the social hour was in charge of Dr. and Mrs.
Bruce Raymond.

The next meeting will be Jan.
9 when a panel discussion on city planning will be held in the Ten Cate home.

Economists Give Advice

Medics Losing Ideals,
Dr. Leenhouts Claims

Ascendancy of commercialism over medical ideals is, to large degree, responsible for the clamor to nationalize physicians, Dr. A.
Leenhouts told the Social Progress club Tuesday night at the C. C. Wood home, Waukegan.

In a paper entitled "Medical Idealism as Applied and Practiced in Medical Service," Dr. Leen-houts traced development of modern medicine from ancient Greece, pointing out the various eras of emphasis. He said the high cost of a medical education and equipment justified adequate return to the medical practitioner, but he argued that many physicians abuse fee schedules, with a result that proper medical attention is being priced away from a large segment of the population.

To offset the high cost of medicine, without nationalization, Dr.
Leenhouts said the medical profession should establish medical centers on a community basis.
Such health centers would increase efficiency of practitioners by bringing their skills under one roof and the saving of time and duplication of effort would give each greater time to care for patients.

"Free enterprise would be maintained under control of physicians," he said.

Dr. Leenhouts, dean of Holland medical men, said he had inquired into costs of medical treatment in Holland and he believed a health center of such size as to guarantee a fair return to the physicians was possible here. It would bring savings to patients through reduction of overhead costs.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wood served a tray luncheon. C. E. Drew conducted the meeting and announced a schedule of programs for the remainder of the year.

Mountain States Believe Truman Still Best Bet

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Denver, Colo., Dec. 8.—Truman popularity isn't slipping in the Rocky Mountain region.

That's the way the governor of Colorado, William Lee Enous, reads the national political barometer.

So he calls "sound" the strategy of the Democratic National committee to concentrate the party's vote-getting efforts in the West and Midwest come the campaigns of 1950 and 1952.

Interviewed in his executive office, the two-term Democrat governor carefully analyzed the Truman strength.

This tall, gaunt governor, who hides his shyness behind a stern front, is not an easy talked. He picks his words cautiously and makes no wild claims.

When his smile breaks through, his real popularity becomes quickly understandable. And the more he talks the better impression he makes.

It seems the people of the Rocky Mountain Empire, like administration policies on agriculture and development of their great natural resources.

They are reassured Enous said, by the appointment of two Denver men to cabinet posts directly concerned with these policies.

But with political sagacity, the governor was quick to emphasize that these two career men in government (Charles Brannan and Oscar Chapman) were really "Empire men" with broad national and international vision.

He recognized the danger of bragging about Denver's being favored with two men chosen for the President's official family, where a geographical spread is desirable politically.

Most Westerners are glad Charles Brannan, who knows the farmers' problems, is Secretary of Agriculture, "but that doesn't mean they are completely sold on the Brannan plan which many admit they do not understand." It does mean, apparently, they have faith in friend Charlie to look after their welfare.

Oscar Chapman's 16 years in the "little cabinet" has made him the best qualified Secretary of Interior of our time. The voters know where he stands and it's "pro-West."

Flatly, Gov. Enous denies Westerners are afraid of such catch phrases as "welfare state" or "Fair Deal." It will take more than name-calling to swing the voters in his part of the country away from Harry Truman, he is certain.

Holland, Center Theaters Undergo Improvements

Extensive improvements have been completed at the Holland and Center theaters. The interior of the Holland theater has been re-decorated and new seats were installed on the main floor which are wider, farther apart and staggered. The interior has been re-carpeted and new rest rooms and a powder room were added.

The exterior of the building also has been completely modernized. A new screen was installed at the Center theater two months ago and a new marquee recently was added to the list of improvements there.

Buick Announces Cut in Dynaflo

Flint—A reduction of $40—equivalent to 20 per cent—was announced by the Buick Motor division today for the price of its Dynaflo transmission.

The reduction lowers the list price of Dynaflo from $200 to $160.

Effective Dec. 1, it applies to the purchase of Dynaflo on all Buick models.

In announcing the price cut, Ivan L. Wiles, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors, said that during 1949 Buick has built and sold more than 262,000 Dynaflo units. Demand for Dynaflo continues to increase, Wiles said, and has been correspondingly strong on the lower-priced special model. As a result, 71 per cent of the approximately 370,000 cars built by Buick this year have been equipped with Dynaflo.

Although Dynaflo was introduced less than two years ago, a total of more than 335,000 units now have been produced. Arie Ter Haar is local Buick and Pontiac dealer. His show rooms and service garage is located at 130 East Eighth St.

Quarter Pound Of Coffee Ration For Four Weeks

Veltman Wonders How Local Kletzers Would Like the Netherlands

This is the second of a series on "A Dutch Odyssey" prepared by Peter Veltman, who with his wife and two daughters, is spending nine months in the Netherlands. Veltman, former Holland high teacher, is studying at Free university under the Fulbright plan.

By Peter Veltman

The American octagonal yellow "stop sign" has just made its debut in Amsterdam. In fact, in Europe. These signs are unknown in Europe, one Amsterdam newspaper pointed out, except perhaps in the American occupied zone in Germany. The motor cop, spelled "speed-cap" in one of the Amsterdam papers, also put in his appearance at the same time.

Policemen here wear much the same garb they inherited from the Nazis during the time of the occupation. Some are on foot, some on horseback, many on bicycles, some few in cars.

The mayor of Amsterdam, Mayor A. W. d'Ailly, left Schiphol by plane Sunday to attend a meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, where he was scheduled to give an address.

The coffee ration here is approximately 1/4 pound per person for four weeks. I wonder how Holland, Mich.'s Koffie Kletzers could get along on that? Coffee available in restaurants runs about 20 cents to 30 cents per cup, Netherlands currency.

Again so far, the Netherlands has an abnormal winter this year. I am told. There has been no snow. Today I purchased the season's last muskmelon, and in the University garden today I saw a rose in full bloom.

Restaurant owners in Amsterdam feel that they, too, should have a day a week off. At present they are attempting to bring this about.

A mixed feeling in regard to the loss of Indonesia confronts the people here. The Netherlands will give up Indonesia as of Jan. 1. Up to Nov. 19 some 2,382 Netherlands had been killed in Indonesia. The feeling current here seems to be that trade relations between Indonesia and the Netherlands will remain good, but there seems some doubt as to Indonesia's ability to rule herself and, of course, there is the serious question of the worth-whileness of the fighting there. This feeling is particularly strong, it appears, among the bereaved families.

Coins are of many sizes and shapes here. Ask any Netherlands, and he tells you the Germans are to blame because they took all the gold and silver available to Germany. "Good" coins are again becoming evident, but there is still much zinc money around. For Thanksgiving? Yes, we had a good meal and were grateful for it. One group of Americans here tried to reproduce an American Thanksgiving dinner, but no one could find turkey or pumpkin or squash. Turkey and pumpkin are available at times, but expensive. Squash seems to be unknown as a vegetable, as does sweet corn.

Sundays are very quiet here. They remind us much of Holland, Mich. Many church-goers may be seen walking in the streets. By governmental decree there are still many car-less Sundays. Announcement has just been made that, to save gas, Dec. 4 and 25 are the only Sundays in the month on which the use of cars and motor bikes or motorcycles will be allowed. There are no private garages here. The car owners park their cars in the open street, covered with canvas tarpaulins.

Through an arrangement with the Holland-America Institute, an organization whose purpose is to strengthen the bonds between the United States and the Netherlands, we are giving English conversation lessons to a Netherlands who plans soon to leave here to take up residence in America.

Recently the minister of one of the churches here where two Americans were in attendance apologized to us because so many Netherlands smoke and he believed that it was not common for members of Christian churches in America to smoke in this manner, thus openly.

Jamestown

(From Tuesday's Sentinel)

The Mission Guild will meet at the Reformed church parlors on Tuesday evening, Dec. 13, when Mrs. Walter Kronmeyer will speak. The Kronmeyers are home on furlough from Africa where they are missionaries. Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bowman were dinner guests of their children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bolt and son in Grandville.

Friday evening the PTA will meet at the school house. Mrs. James Franken entertained a group of women at her home Friday evening when a demonstration was given.

C. Vander Woude, student at Holland Western seminary had charge of the evening service at the Reformed church.

Mr. and Mrs. Klaas Hemmes and daughters moved to Grand Rapids last week. Mrs. Hemmes is employed in Grand Rapids.

Miss Pauline Hall entertained a friend from Grand Rapids last week-end.

Guess what this trio is talking about? They're Coach Al Vanderbush (left) of Hope college, Lloyd Heneveld, (center) guard of the University of Michigan football team for the last three years, and Coach Bob Stupka of Holland high. The three men got together Monday night at the annual Exchange club banquet to honor the Holland high and Hope college football teams. Heneveld made the trip from Ann Arbor to be speaker at the annual banquet. Dutch brought along pictures of the Michigan-Minnesota football game to show at the banquet. He is the only Holland man, besides Cappy Cappon, to ever play three years of varsity football at the state university. (Penna-Sas photo)

Lloyd Heneveld Stars At Football Banquet

Lloyd "Dutch" Heneveld came home Monday night to make the annual Exchange club banquet one of the best in history.

Football players, coaches and managers of Holland high and Hope college were guests of the club at the banquet in Hope church parlors.

Heneveld, as main speaker on the program, received a standing ovation as he was introduced by J. J. Riemersma, principal of Holland high. Riemersma said Cappy Cappon and Lloyd Heneveld were the only Holland men to ever play three years of varsity football at Michigan.

Dutch began by thanking the Exchange club for the invitation. "I owe a great deal to the people of Holland, especially Mackay, Hinga, Moran and Van Lente," he said. "They taught me to be an athlete."

The modest local man gave a few sidebars on his teammates at the University of Michigan.

He said 33-year-old Captain Al Wistert was known as the Satchel Paige of football and "grand old man" to his teammates. Dutch told of how a Northwestern player commented when Wistert led the defensive team onto the field. "Here comes the old man with all his kids."

Dick Kempthorn—Heneveld told of how Kempthorn was accorded one of the greatest tributes of any player last week at the annual Detroit alumni club grid bust. The ex-Michigan All American, about 28, was sitting apart from the group and Coach Bennie Oosterbaan said, "If I belong at that table then there's one man on this year's team that also belongs there—Dick Kempthorn. He should be there. He didn't get one-half the national recognition that he should have."

Lloyd told of the time in a game when an official marched off 15 yards against Michigan and Kempthorn said, "You stink." The official puffed off another 15 yards and said to Kempthorn, "There, how do I stink from here?"

Wally Teninga — He was a great triple-threat man. He had played at Michigan in 1945 and when he came back in 1947, there were men like All-American Bob Chappius ahead of him. He never really did get a chance to play regularly, but he stuck to it and was one of the most valuable assets to the team. Heneveld used this example to demonstrate the spirit at Michigan.

Oosterbaan — He's a "great coach and a great guy," Heneveld said. "You don't find them much better. He would tell us to go out there and have a lot of fun." "By fun he didn't mean foolish fun but always said you'll never get tired if you give it all you got."

Heneveld also lauded Jim Hunt, the team trainer. Dutch said the players call him BTW for "best trainer in the world."

The modest local man concluded the program with pictures of the Michigan-Minnesota game in which the Wolverines upset the then highly touted Gophers.

Dutch said the team was burning mad before that game. Minnesota had won five straight by handy scores and the Wolverines had lost to Army and Northwestern on the preceding week-ends. Students at Ann Arbor and townspeople were betting against Michigan and told the players how the Gophers would make mince meat out of them.

The pictures were evidence of the team's madness. They pushed the burly Gophers back repeatedly and held them to one first down on running plays that afternoon. Heneveld was one of the main reasons for the brilliant Michigan showing.

Riemersma briefly outlined Heneveld's scholastic, athletic and extra-curricular record while at Holland high. He was No. 11 in scholastic standings out of the 261-student class of 1943. He was an honor student during his sophomore, junior and senior years. Big Dosages of Drugs May Be Bad for Cattle Giving excessive dosages of drugs and concoctions to dairy cattle sometimes causes more trouble than benefit, cautions Dr. B. J. Killham, extension veterinarian at Michigan State college.

A little medicine or a few minerals may assist the natural powers of dairy cows in getting them back to health, but it does not follow that more will prove even better.

Instances in which misguided use of drugs has caused trouble are far too numerous, continues Killham. Owners of good herds follow the rule of not administering drugs, special minerals, or so-called conditioners unless their contents and effects are adequately known and specifically indicated.

New Hospital Program Aimed To Cut Expenses

Allegan Health Center Is Participating Member In Centralized Buying

Allegan, Dec. 7 (Special)—Allegan Health Center will be one of the participating hospitals in the new centralized purchasing program, according to Mrs. Esther Morris, hospital administrator. She has been informed that the W. K. Kellogg foundation has granted $16,400 to the Southwestern Michigan Hospital Council for the first year of the project.

Aimed at cutting hospital costs from 15 to 20 per cent the plan was originally surveyed by Harris D. Jones when he was administrative resident at the Center last spring.

Willard K. Clore, Chicago, has been named executive secretary with offices in Kalamazoo. Purchasing probably will not start until February.

The Kellogg grant will cover all operating expenses for the first year and also furnish some of the initial capital for such items as office equipment. Participating hospitals will contribute $7,000 for capital, and will give on the basis of two and a half cents per patient day for the year 1948.

The Allegan hospital, with an annual cost of $251, hopes for a yearly saving of nearly $7,500 on purchasing of generally used supplies, said Mrs. Morris, who is a member of the project committee.

The Foundation will decrease its grant by 20 per cent every year of the five-year program. It is expected the participating hospitals will make up the difference by pacing a slight mark-up on purchases.

The plan affects hospitals in Kalamazoo, Benton Harbor, Niles, Sturgis, Three Rivers, Coldwater, Hillsdale, Albion, Marshall, Hastings, Battle Creek, Ionia, Grand Haven, South Haven, Plainwell and Allegan.

Western Michigan Edges Hope Five By Narrow Margin

Dutchmen Start Slow But Rally to Tie Game Near Final Horn

Hope college opened the basketball war Tuesday night by holding the highly favored Western Michigan Broncos to a 52-48 count before a partisan crowd of 1,000 at the Armory.

Obviously suffering from stage fright and lack of game experience, the Dutch managed to keep in the game in the first half by virtue of converting free tosses, while the Broncos raced up and down the floor racking up only a modest percentage of its field attempts. The Dutch played cautiously, feeling out the visitors and it wasn't until 10 minutes of the first period had elapsed before Center Paul Muiyken scored a field goal to bring the score to 8-7 with the Broncos on top.

Bud VandeWege, favoring his game leg, played in early minutes of the fray, and then was in and out of the game as Coach Russ De Vette felt his star scorer needed rest. VandeWege was under instructions not to mix it up with the rough and tumble Broncos and his shooting suffered. But so did the rest of the Dutch. Try after try fell short of the target, especially during the first half.

Western, too, was having marksmanship troubles and the half ended with the visitors leading 27-22. Hope was working the ball to the outcourt in good style, but under the basket attacks were being broken up by the aggressive defense of the Broncos. Moreover, the Broncos were controlling rebounds.

After the half, the Dutch gained in confidence and poise and staged a rally that sent them ahead for the first time in the game 37-35. Bill Holwerda, Nick Yonker, Jack Marema and Jerry Jacobson all figured in the rally scoring. Then the Broncos responded to the challenge and with Bob Adams, Elwyn Heyn and Pat Clydesdale carrying the brunt, ran the score up to 48-37 with just five minutes left to play.

Hope stopped that uprising cold and tied the score at 48-48, holding the vaunted Westerns scoreless. But with less than two minutes to go Don Groggel sank a field goal and Clydesdale scored with two free shots and the tie was cast.

Freshman Forward Jerry Jacobson got tangled up in the gas-house finish and received a painfully torn ligament in his right leg. DeVette said he would be out of the game for a while, probably until after Christmas. His absence will be felt. The rougher the going got, the better this rookie showed up among his basketball elders.

DeVette kept his team attacking slowly and urged them to work plays under the basket. Especially steady was the methodical play of Moose Holwerda, who made many spectacular saves in the game. Yonker looked good as usual. These two, with Muiyken aiding and abetting, took the backboard advantage away from the Broncos in the second half.

Another reflection of the difference in the style of play is shown in the foul column. Hope was tagged for 10 personals, while the Broncos were handed 27, in a well handled game. Referees were Charles Stewart (Purdue) and John Burger (Manchester), both of South Bend. They were brought in by Hope Athletic Director M. L. Hinga to get the college basketball season off on the right foot.

News of Interest to Western Michigan Farm Operators

Awards, Projects Highlight News of Michigan 4-H'ers

Hard Working Group Saves Time and Money For State Farmers

Members of the various 4-H clubs in Michigan play an active part in farm production, soil conservation and many other labor and money saving projects on Michigan farms. Various awards have gone to these hard workers recently.

Michigan has won top honors in meat animal production among the nation's two million 4-H club members for the second consecutive year. Robert Norris, 20, route 1, Berrien Center, received the national honor before 1,500 4-H club boys and girls all over the nation at Chicago last week Monday night.

Last year the national honor was won by Howard King, Tekonsha.

Swine production achievement won Norris the recognition. From three registered Poland China gilts purchased when he was 13 years old, the Berrien county youth has built up a sizeable herd and a $4,000 business. He has raised 286 hogs and at present has eight sows with 56 fall pigs and eight more gilts for spring pig production.

In his ten years of 4-H club work he's had time for other things beside swine production. His project record shows seven years with dairy, five years with handicraft, three years with corn, two years with oats and one year in tractor work. He has been president of his club and also headed the county 4-H Service club.

Robert Henning of Coopersville has been awarded the trip to the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, as the Ottawa county 4-H delegate, according to E. Dean Troop, 4-H agent.

Bob is one of a group of 4-H members who has been awarded this trip. This is the first year these awards have been made.

Seventeen-year-old David Edward Richmond of Lowell, Kent county, has been selected as the state top winner in the 1949 National 4-H Club Soil Conservation Contest. The program is directed by the Co-operative Extension Service.

By virtue of his outstanding work in soil saving David will receive the award of a $50 Savings Bond.

A series of gullies that badly eroded the land and made driving over them at harvest time a hazard prompted Richmond to undertake soil conservation as a 4-H club project.

"Farm Fire Prevention" is a new 4-H club project which may be started by Ottawa county boys and girls now and completed by Sept. 30, 1950.

E. Dean Troop, 4-H club agent, states that the purpose of the project is to give 4-H members an opportunity to help with fire prevention and fight one of the worst enemies of the farm.

Fires on farms take approximately 3,500 lives and destroy more than $100,000,000 annually and 4-H club members have a real project in helping reduce these losses.

Boys and girls between 10 and 20 are eligible to start the project awards will include a trip to the national 4-H club congress in 1950 with all expenses paid, and U. S. Savings Bonds.

Further information about this project is available at the county extension office from Troop.

L. R. Arnold believes that many Ottawa farmers will be interested in the program which will bring a group of young Dutch farmers to Michigan next April. These young men will remain on Michigan farms for six months. They will then return to Holland.

It is felt that these young men will pick up many American ideas and practices.

It is possible to get several of these young people into the county next April. First of all it is necessary to find farmers who wish to secure these farmers. According to plan they may be shifted after two or three months from one farm to another in order to gather more ideas.

Any farmer of the county who is interested is requested to file his application to L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, Grand Haven.

The resignation was accepted by Judge Smith who immediately announced appointment of Chief Deputy Clerk Anna Van Horsen as clerk to serve the unexpired term of Wilds.

Wilds was appointed county clerk May 1, 1926, succeeding Orrie J. Sluiter who became clerk of the U.S. district court for the Western Michigan district.
